The Soul of Brazilian Nature

A dialogue of Craft, Creativity and Respect

Yana Coelho's work blends Brazil's raw essence with contemporary design. Each handcrafted piece transforms botanical elements through delicate artistic interventions.

Sustainability is central: seeds, pods, and fibers are gathered only after falling naturally, honoring life cycles without extraction.

Meticulously hand-painted, every sculpture is unique.

By removing fixed boundaries, these flexible forms invite a tactile experience. Designed to be molded to each home's rhythm, they allow organic shapes to find a sophisticated, personal expression within your environment.

Yana Coelho | About the artist

"My raw materials are nature's own offerings, released to honor the cycles of life and embrace the new. I create with a sense of identity that never alters, but instead amplifies, their innate simplicity and essence."

Yana Coelho

Based in Minas Gerais, Yana Coelho's background in Occupational Therapy and art curation defines her unique approach to aesthetic healing.

Her childhood passion for handcrafting evolved into a sophisticated practice where the contemporary meets the eternal.

Driven by the geometry of elements like Olho de Boi, Yana transforms botanical "offerings" into elegant sculptures.

Her work meticulously preserves nature's essence, creating a distinctive identity for interior spaces through artisanal excellence and timeless design.

A Journey Through Brazilian Biomes

Each botanical element carries the unique energy and history of its origin. We invite you on a visual journey, exploring the transformation from a naturally fallen seed into a sophisticated work of art, celebrating the untamed beauty that only Brazil can offer.
